Through the web interface, the user accesses a dedicated and secure online platform offering various options for topping up their account balance.

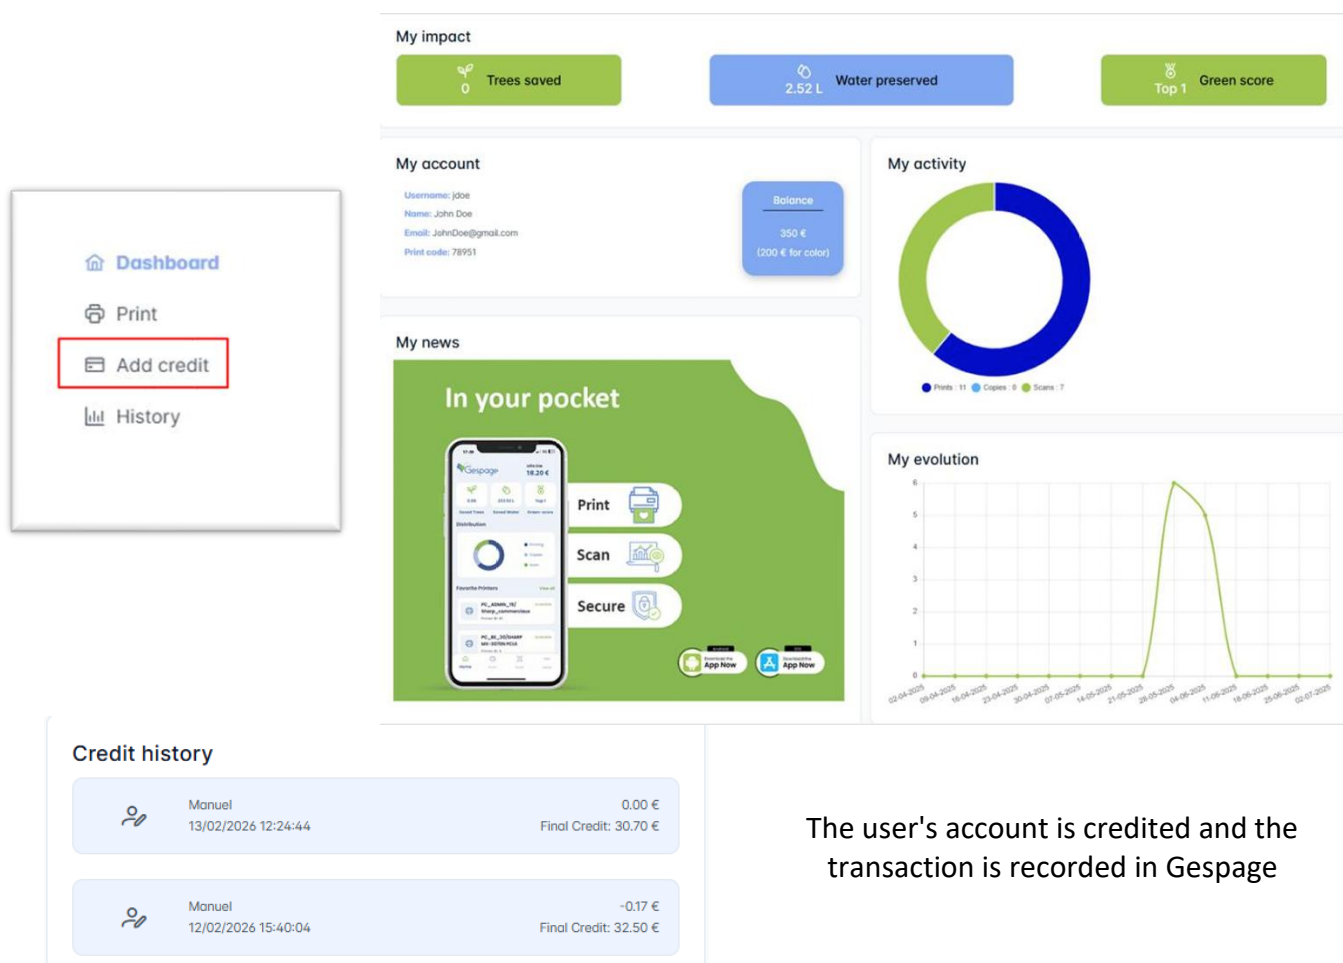

Gespage Web Payment is compatible with the Worldline and PayPal payment gateways.

How It Works

From the Gespage portal, users select the desired top-up amount and complete their payment online in just a few clicks. The transaction is secured through the institution's payment gateway, and the user's Gespage account is automatically credited, with no staff intervention required.

For administrators, the entire process is seamless and fully controlled. Payments are transferred directly to the institution's merchant account, while top-up amounts and any associated benefits remain fully configurable within Gespage.

This enables the institution to enhance its service offering with a modern solution that integrates immediately into the existing environment and is easy to manage on a daily basis.

The user's account is credited and the transaction is recorded in Gespage
